

Tyndale Theological Seminary

presents a seminar on:

HOT TOPICS IN CHRISTIAN ETHICS

with

VINCENT BACOTE, PH.D.

12 – 13 March 2010

Christian faithfulness requires considerable discernment and wisdom. How do we faithfully live out a life of Christian discipleship in the face of various private and public challenges? This seminar will highlight the vital necessity of Christian ethics and help us to consider how to engage some of our current challenges. Areas of emphasis include questions related to marriage and sexuality, the challenges which emerge from the intersection of modern technology and medicine, and Christian responsibility in and for the public realm. Please come to participate in this intriguing seminar comprised of lecture and discussion.

About the Speaker:

Dr. Vincent Bacote has been on the faculty of Wheaton College, one of the outstanding evangelical colleges in the USA, since Spring 2000. He is Associate Professor of Theology as well as the Director of the Center for Applied Christian Ethics (CACE). The mission of the Center for Applied Christian Ethics is to promote and encourage the formation of moral character and the application of biblical ethics to contemporary moral decisions.
